Thursday April 13th instant at about one o'clock of noon in the afternoon he saw James Rooney whom he well knows near the corner of West 56th Street and Tenth Avenue driving a single horse and wagon toward the South - that sitting near him was one John Geary and in the wagon there are barrels to one whiskey barrel and two fish barrels; that said Rooney turned into W 55th Street and drove towards 11th Avenue; that at the Corner of W 53rd Street and 11th went to get some hay, Dependent then asked said Gentry what he had and he said barrels then dependent lifted the cover off one of the barrels, and asked said Gentry where he got said barrels and he said that Proney bought them. Dependent asked him where and he said in Sixth Street. During said conversation Proney stood under the shade of a rock some distance off looking toward dependent. Dependent waited for an officer to come along to assist him. An officer did come named Horn attached to the 22^d Precinct and dependent went to him the wagon barrels and Gentry to take to corner of 52^d Street and Kusto Avenue while dependent should attempt to secure Proney. Dependent went up the lane and searched for Proney and could not find him.

Dependent then took barrels, wagon and Gentry to Station House and picked up Gentry and next morning took same hearing before Justice Magan where from want of evidence he was discharged

Said the barrels were as follows. One barrel was painted red and white and marked "Long Island Brewery Brooklyn New York". Another was a plain barrel marked "H Howard & Co New York" and the other was a plain barrel of an English brand

Said Rooney subsequently came and took said barrels away.

Deponent asked him
"Did you buy these barrels?"

Rooney answered, "I don't think I am compelled to answer that question - I paid for most of the barrels in the wagon
