Pres. S. P. C. C.

Dear Sir,

I have examined Edward Mulhern 14 years of age.
I find, on the back of right hand, wrist and forearm, no less than six deep ulcers - caused by the application of a violent corrosive. The tissues show the characteristic stains of Nitric Acid, and I have no hesitation in stating that these ulcers were caused by that substance

occupation Hard wood finisher being duly sworn, deposes and says, that on the 26th day of April 1889, at the City of New York, in the County of New York, in the month of April 1889. I was present in the room occupied at that time by Daniel Smith, and there saw him take a quantity of nitric acid which he had in a small bottle, dilute it with water, and apply it to the arm of Edward Mulhern. I saw said Mulhern's arm become raw and turn red from the effects of such application.

I have known Smith for about two years and he has been living in said place for some time prior to said occasion. At that time another boy about eighteen years of age had been in the room but I think he left just before Smith burned Mulhern's arm & afterwards returned with ~~the~~ beer which we drank (all except Mulhern).

This other boy had at this time a burn on one of his arms.

I know that Smith had been in the habit of sending boys about the streets to beg, and used to ~~ask for~~ ~~the~~ ~~arms of the~~ ~~make them~~ ~~appear~~ ~~disabled in order to excite sympathy.~~

I did not inquire of Smith about his business as I knew this practice of his was engaged in by other people in this city and it excited no especial surprise in me.

I know a man ~~named~~ called "Boston Ed" and that ~~he~~ ^{it} is generally known that he does the same kind of business.

I have seen Smith with his arm in a sling begging about the streets when I knew there was nothing the matter with him.

Indictment:

Grand Larceny 2^d deg.

on the 5th of ^{ss. 528 & 531 P.C.} April, 1889, for having stolen the sum of $808, in money, from the complainant, John Fougtaurski. The complainant was employed by the defendant and her husband at No. 4441 Fifth Street, and in consequence of a suggestion from the defendant, he buried the said money in a hole dug by him in the cellar of said house. When he was doing this, the defendant observed him through the trap door leading into the said cellar. The defendant denies having seen him, and a number of witnesses say that it ~~is~~ ^{is} impossible for any person ^{standing on the top of the stairs} to see a party near said hole.

POOR QUALITY
ORIGINAL

0030

The complainant is positive that he saw her at the said time and place. When he came out of the cellar, she spoke to him and asked him what he had been doing. He was led to the burying of the money by defendant's suggestion that his money was not safe in ~~the~~ ^{his} vest where he had sewed it in under the lining, nor in his trunk. The day following the burying of the money, the defendant's husband remarked to him that he would bet him $1000 that his money was stolen. The complainant had drawn the money from the bank only a few days before, he intending to return to Europe, but remained a few days longer at defendant's invitation, he and she being countrymen. The man referred to by several witnesses in the Police Court as having lived in the cellar was a laborer of defendant's husband. He had been complainant's predecessor and had been away from the house for about a week. Two days before the burying of the money he called at the house and slept in complainant's bed for one night. The cellar is in such an unhealthy condition that nobody could sleep there for one night without getting sick.

Sergeant Detective Van Quichten has examined the premises and has found that when a person, standing at the top of the cellar stairs, stops a little he can see a party standing in the cellar where the money was buried, provided he has a light. The cellar is in an unhealthy condition.
