Mayor W. L. Strong,

City Hall:

Dear Sir:

The Police Board has in its possession a section of the old Stuyvesant pear tree, of which there is a picture in the Governor's room at City Hall. The Police Board has no appropriate place in which to keep this very valuable and interesting relic of early Manhattan, and the Board thinks it would be peculiarly appropriate to have the section of the trunk put underneath the picture of the old pear tree in the Governor's room. If you consent that this be done the Board will forward the relic to you at once. Most certainly we should all try to preserve any relic telling, as this does, of the past of the city, and there are no facilities in the Police Department for its preservation.

Trusting to hear from you favorably, I have the honor to be,
with great respect,

Yours very truly,

Theodore Roosevelt

Mr. Olaf Johnson,

8 Fullam Place:

Sir:

I am directed by the Board of Police to say with reference to yours of the 10th ult., as to alleged dangerous blasting, addressed to His Honor, the Mayor, and referred to this Department, that Acting Captain Kirchner, of the 32d precinct, reports concerning the same as follows:

"I find upon thorough investigation of the matter that the house in question is a very frail one-story frame structure, built with eleven more in the same row by Mr. Fullam, of 151st street, west of the Boulevard, principally of old doors and covered with weather boarding and tar-paper roof, and that the damage done to the building which consists of a part of the ceiling in the front room falling, was done by concussion and not, as claimed, by flying stones from the blast, as the building is at least three hundred feet from the Speedway and up a steep grade, and the place where the blasting is done is on the side of the cut facing the river, and which is at least one hundred feet high, so that any stones flying therefrom must necessarily go toward the river and could not possibly go toward Mr. Johnson's home. Mr. Rogers, the contractor doing the work, informs me that he offered Mr. Johnson, through the City Inspector, Mr. George Hillman, and John Willoughby, the sum of forty dollars for the damage to ceiling but that he refused to accept it, claiming a considerably larger amount, which the contractor refused to pay. I would also state that I have an officer stationed on the upper Speedway, in the vicinity of 184th street, where the blasting is being done, to see that the ordinance relative to blasting is strictly complied with."

Sir:

I am directed by the Board of Police to say with reference to yours of the 2d ult., addressed to His Honor, the Mayor, complaining of disorderly newsboys, that Captain Eakins, of the 15th precinct, reports concerning the same as follows:

"Sixth av. and Clinton Pl. is a point of delivery for the evening papers to the newsboys, and the boys have behaved very well, as this is the first complaint since I have been in command of this precinct (nearly two years). However, I have taken measures to prevent any cause of complaint in the future."

Acting Captain Thomas, of the 16th precinct, reports:

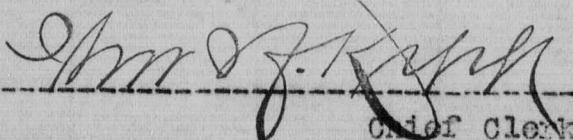

"I can find no cause for the complaint. There is no delivery of papers either at 7th av. and 23d st. or at 8th av. and 23d st., therefore, no gathering of newsboys. There may be occasionally a newsboy crying out his papers, but that is all."

Acting Captain Welsing, of the 20th precinct, reports:

"I detailed an officer of this command in plain clothes, who visited 8th avenue, between 27th and 30th sts. at various times of the day and evening for the past three days (Sept. 19, 20 & 21) and failed to find any boys acting in a disorderly manner. I also instructed the officers on this post to give this matter special attention."

COMPLAINT No. 369.....

Hon. William R. Strong,

Dear Sir :-

I would like to call your attention to a nuisance within view of the City Hall, which certainly can be remedied by the authorities of the City. It is that of boys and vendors who congregate in Spruce Street, between Park Row and William Street, making it almost impossible to pass through that Street.

The boys are of all ages and sizes, run through the Street, frequently against pedestrians, use foul and filthy language, and since the store No. 9 Frankfort Street has been closed, of which premises I am the owner, play craps there in the vestibule.

This is not only a nuisance to the public, but a detriment to the business in the block.

I have endeavored at various times to have the Street cleared of the nuisance but I have not been able to see the slightest improvement, and I respectfully ask that you investigate the matter and, if possible ~~have~~ the nuisance abated.

In regard to No. 9 Frankfort street, this neighborhood is infested with fully 100 to 200 newsboys who congregate on said block to wait for their newspapers from the different offices in the vicinity. I have made a special day post out of this block some time ago, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. If at 8 a. m. roll call any morning an officer has to go to court with a prisoner, instead of doubling up a post to send a man to 9 Frankfort street, we generally wait until the officer who has gone to court returns, and then send him there; but in the afternoon from 1 to 6 p. m. there is always an officer there."

Hon. W. L. Strong,

Dear Sir:

I beg to enclose herewith a printed copy of a letter recently submitted to us by Dr. S. G. Cook, President of the Board of Police Surgeons relative to the increase of that body from 15 to 18 in number.

Yours truly,

Commissioner.

WHY

More than Fifteen Police Surgeons are Needed.

New York,.....1895.

To the Board of Police--Gentlemen:

In May, 1873, after the passage of the charter of that year, the Board of Police at that time tried the experiment of employing private physicians to take care of the sick and wounded policemen, fixing the price per visit each was to receive for his services, and designated two or more in each precinct for that purpose. I know of one precinct, and there were probably more, that had five surgeons.

The experiment was a failure in more ways than one.

Besides an enormously increased sick list and a greatly demoralized police force, the expense was more than quintupled, nearly bankrupting the department.

In the latter part of September of that year (1873), with a desire for economy stimulated by a reduced exchequer, the Board looked the ground over carefully and came to the conclusion that the Department could get along with nineteen surgeons. Nineteen were appointed and for many years the Board of Surgeons consisted of that number.

At that time the total police force numbered about 2,000 men. It now numbers (when filled) about 4,000.

At that time the city did not extend beyond Manhattan Island.

It now covers several times the original area, with policemen living in every part of it, requiring, frequently, hours of the Surgeon's time to visit one of them when sick.

About four years ago, in consequence of the resignations of Drs. Reese H. Voorhees and Morton Grinnell and the death of Drs. Matthews and Damainville, the aforesaid number was reduced to fifteen.

A civil service examination was held and an eligible list obtained and the Board of Surgeons expected and had reason to believe that their depleted number would soon be filled; but their expectations were not realized.

It seems that one of the city officials had expected, intended and promised that one of the vacancies should be filled by a particular friend of his, but when the eligible list appeared it was found either that his friend's name was not on it at all, or else was so low down that it could not be reached.

Obstructive tactics were then commenced and continued so long that the public press took the matter up and berated the author of them without mercy until the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment two years ago last fall, when the aforesaid official, probably without the least knowledge of the services required, declared that fifteen surgeons were sufficient to perform the labors required of them and that the appropriation should be made on that basis. His motion was carried. Soon after this, I, as President of the Board of Surgeons, was directed by the Board of Police to redistrict the city into fifteen Surgical Districts, instead of nineteen.

The number continued at fifteen until May of this year (1895), when by the resignation of Dr. Dorn it was reduced to fourteen, where it now stands.

The question of dividing the city into local districts and assigning surgeons to attend all members of the force living within certain established boundaries has frequently been proposed, fully discussed and abandoned because of its impracticability.

Policemen are almost as migratory in their habitations as the birds, and the district which to-day contains its fair proportion of them, might, six months hence, be deserted, or vice versa, might contain double the number it contained when the division was made.

Another objection would be the complete "loss of touch" between the Surgeon and the commanding officers of the various precincts, from whom the surgeons have long been in the practice of gathering points regarding the character, habits and general personnel of the men they have to deal with. The knowledge thus gained frequently leads the surgeon to deal in a summary manner with a policeman on the sick list. Without this knowledge a much longer time might be required to arrive at a definite conclusion.

Still another objection would be the continual change of clientage. Every Surgeon of Police will bear me out when I say that he would much prefer to attend the precinct with which he has long been familiar, than to take one much smaller with which he is unfamiliar.

All physicians also know how much easier it is to make a diagnosis in the case of, and to prescribe for an old patient than for a new one. I have never known a Police Surgeon, who had given the subject due consideration, to favor districting the city by local lines instead of by precincts.

Like that of the general public, the health of the police force varies greatly with the seasons.

During the months of May, June, July, August, September and October the number of sick men in the Department will probably average not far from one hundred daily. This number, fifteen surgeons can take care of without any difficulty, "giving them the same care and attention they would give to private patients," but it will be remembered that it is during these months that the surgeons must get their vacations, if they have any, and when one surgeon is absent on vacation another one must be at home doing his own work and also that of his absent colleague; theirs being the only instance in the Department where the duties of one are doubled or sensibly increased by the absence of another.

During the other half of the year the daily sick list runs from 150 to 300, and has been over 400 for several days in succession. At such times the present number of Police Surgeons (15) is entirely inadequate to perform the duties as they should be performed.

The number of Police Surgeons should be based, if not upon the maximum service required, then certainly upon the average requirements of the six months of the year beginning with November and ending with April.

The proper performance of the duties during that period, in my opinion, requires at least nineteen surgeons, or one to every two precincts. Including the various Court, Central Office, and other Squads, the Sanitary Company and the Detective Bureau there are practically 38 precincts.

While the professional care of sick and wounded policemen is the principal duty of a Surgeon of Police, it is by no means the only one.

It was formerly made a part of their duty to attend all cases of accidents and injury occurring in the public streets and decide what disposition should be made of them (such as home or hospital) after they had been cared for at the station houses, but of late years they have been almost entirely relieved of these duties by the excellent ambulance system now in operation.

As an offset to this, however, the surgeons are compelled to "take medical and surgical charge of the pensioners of the "Police Pension Fund" and their families; giving them, without charge, the same care and attention as patients in private practice." (See Rule 106.)

As the pension list has grown, this latter requirement takes no inconsiderable portion of their time.

The pensioners now number over twelve hundred (1273). Estimating "their families" to consist, on an average, of two persons besides themselves (which I believe to be a low estimate), would give us an additional clientage equal to or greater than the present active police force (3,726).

Sick and wounded or injured prisoners do not come under "the ambulance system," and have to be attended by the Surgeon of the District in which the disability occurs.

The examination of applicants for appointment on the force takes a large amount of their time.

The Board of Surgeons have to hold bi-weekly meetings at which discussion and disposition of cases brought up for consideration by the individual members, and at which, cases that have been referred to them by the Board of Police have to be carefully considered, great care being necessary to avoid injustice to the Department or to the members thereof under consideration; mental disabilities are the most troublesome, frequently requiring several visits by committees to some one of the various institutions of the insane, including Middletown, White Plains and Amityville.

By reason of their position they are frequently called as witnesses before Grand Juries and the Courts.

Those familiar with the working of our courts will know that a subpoena to attend and give evidence, means the loss of the larger portion of at least one day, and frequently of more than one.

They are frequent witnesses in the trial room of the Board of Police against malingering and intoxicated policemen.

They have to attend any accidents or sudden illness occurring in the public schools.

They have many professional calls of a charitable nature coming to them by virtue of their positions as Police Surgeons, which cannot be disregarded and which make considerable drafts upon their time.

Unlike all other members of the force as to "regular tours of duty" followed by their allotted "time off," the Surgeons have to hold themselves in readiness for duty at all times, both day and night. The fact is, that a large percentage of their work is done at night. Policemen, like the rest of the human family, are more likely to be taken sick at night. More than 75 per cent. (estimated) of sick time commences at 6 p. m., and regardless of the number so reporting, it is the almost invariable custom, as it is the duty, of the Surgeons to visit and examine each member of the force so reporting, before going to bed.

One night last winter I was notified that eight policemen doing duty in my Surgical District had reported sick, and as they lived from Liberty Street to 143d Street, it was nearly 2 o'clock in the morning before I finished visiting them. Prompt attention to sick reports is demanded, both for the protection of the Department and for the welfare of the policemen.

They may be very sick when reported, or they may be malingering or intoxicated.

Finally, there is a duty the Surgeons perform, higher and more important than any which has yet been referred to, and nearly equal in value to all the others combined, and that is their moral influence in sustaining the discipline and morality of the Department. But this duty is so wide-spreading in its character—so subtle and undemonstrative in its action and so far-reaching and beneficial in its effects that it would require a separate paper to do it full justice.

The foregoing statement may seem unnecessarily long, but I have found it almost impossible to place the subject in its proper light and summarize the various duties of the Surgeons at less length and do justice to the subject.

Besides, their positions have so long been regarded as practical sinécures, and their services as slight and nearly valueless, that it is a pleasure for them to know and feel they have at last a Board of Police who take interest enough in them and in their duties to desire to know what said duties are.

As the law now stands the Commissioners may appoint "not to exceed twenty-two (22) Surgeons of Police, one of whom shall be Chief Surgeon."

As there are practically 38 precincts, I am of the opinion that the city should be divided into 19 Surgical Districts, with one surgeon to each district.

And now as to Chief Surgeon. The Rules of the Department make it incumbent upon the Board of Surgeons to elect annually, "at their first meeting in January," one of their number as President, and it has been the custom to designate the President so elected as Chief Surgeon.

That I have been so elected for several years past does not prove that I am best fitted for the position, but that I have received the most votes. Neither does it follow because I was elected this year that I will be next.

I say this to show that the further recommendation I am about to make is unselfish and disinterested, and it is this—The President of the Board of Surgeons should be entirely relieved from district duty, excepting perhaps something nominal, such as House of Detention or Central Office Squad. His duties should be to have a general supervision of the medical work of the department; to advise, counsel and direct; to hold himself in readiness for consultation with other surgeons in cases of serious illness; to assign to districts when the regular Surgeon is sick or absent, and to make examinations and reports in special cases referred to him by the Board of Police or any of its members.

In conclusion, I recommend that six additional surgeons be appointed, making the Board of Surgeons consist of twenty (20), "one of whom shall be Chief Surgeon."

Very respectfully,

(Signed) S. G. Cook

Hon. Wm. C. Strong

Mayor New York City

Dear Sir

Can you not do something for a long suffering public in regard to the terrible nuisance of yelling and howling Hawkers & Peddlers about our streets & in front of our houses?
Do you not issue & sign a "Mayor's license" to truckmen & peddlers & can you not include in it a proviso that there shall be no hallering & yelling etc? Why Mr Mayor
I don't believe you have any idea what we have to endure up here. Any number of wagons come through our streets at all & the same time.
And each wagon is all the way from one to four great big strapping fellows with voices like thunder, pronouncing any light word of which could be heard through the ~~thick~~^{thick} wall & they put their hands to their mouths &

give a great yell like a fog horn
& there is no rest, no sleep, no peace
& we have come to the conclusion that we must certainly leave the city & live elsewhere for we can not stand it. I had a couple of the fellows arrested a while ago & Judge Sims told them to "remember that other people had rights that they were bound to respect" & he fined them $300 each -

Am ~~Mr~~ ^{Mr} Wagon if this does not come under your jurisdiction kindly let me know & I will seek elsewhere for relief. A Policeman told me of these fellows that he had "no right to sing or song". Why should Maddles be allowed to roam the streets any how? Why not confine them to stances during certain hours of the day & allow no yelling & Why I have never heard them at 10 at night. There are some trees in this block & a year ago we gave wood to make a racket place of the trees (where our children wish to play) & holler & yell & drink beer!

Hoping to hear from you & that you will abate this nuisance at once all over the city rag-men,
fruit-men, coal, ice, milk-men & all (the yelling or ^{calling} ~~all~~ of their meers) & remain

Very Resp^t Yours

Acting Inspector

Sir:-

In reply to enclosed communication I respectfully report as follows. A year ago last summer I received a complaint from Mr. Edwards about pedlars loitering under the trees on the block on which he resides, and their eating their dinner and drinking and using foul language. Prompt action was taken in the matter and the nuisance abated to Mr. Edwards entire satisfaction. This is the only complaint I have ever received about pedlars during my command of this precinct to the best of personal and official knowledge no such nuisance exists as stated in the letter of complaint. The men he states were arrested a short while ago on his complaint, were really arrested over two years ago and were not pedlars. All the laws and ordinances are and have been rigidly enforced in this Precinct.

Because of the receipt of this complaint I have given special instruction to the Roundsmen and patrolmen of my command as to pedlars and their rights and ordered them to strictly enforce the law in every case.

To the Mayor of New York. Dear Sir
On the 3^d of August I sent a Money order of $6.49 to J. Lynn & Co. 48 Bond St New York - on the 6th of Aug I received a card acknowledging the receipt of the money - they propose to give a silk handkerchief for 2 dollar worth of goods - which I sent with the Money order 45^c for three handkerchiefs -
The Money order was 6 dollars and 4^c making in all six dollars and 49^c - covering all required for three all silk handkerchiefs - Yet they keep writing to me for more money - and the Money order stands against them, with the full amount to show and I enclose to you their own Card acknowledging it - and also that they sent me but two premiums and I sent the full amount for three

I must tell you and it seems to bid that any man or set of men would resort to, or be guilty of such an act - My account to them for articles of their goods, I discovered afterwards, did not quite count up to the 6 dollars - and therefore I am a little short in goods - But they seem to take advantage of that and the money order in the Post Office of August 3rd - proves that they received the full amount of money - I cannot understand their policy - I have written to them over and over and to be assured that the amount was all right & went to the Post Office and had the account examined and received the date as they always wrote for dates and amounts (just because my account did not run up to 6 dollars) so I wrote my account out to them again, as they requested

it - and did fair and honest and in adding it up it did not quite make the 6 dollars - I think that is the whole difficulty - But I send you their acknowledgement of receiving all the money required and also that they only sent me 2 premiums instead of 3 - three - Now that is the bone of contention - they owe me a silk handkerchief for which I have paid them and they refuse to send it and confess to having received the money
I will also enclose a card to proving that they are asking for more money - I have ordered more goods too in the mean time in order to afford them the opportunity to send what they justly owe me and if they would ask to know what I ask and what I refer

3 to and to tell them when I took place ⁴⁹⁶ and have stated the matter to them by cards and by letter until I have come to the conclusion that they seek to take advantage of me -

My Uncle has been a Police Officer for a good many years - in what is now Greater Pittsburgh -
I was advised to send the account to the Police department, But was also told to send the complaint to you and you would submit it to an officer -

I will enclose the little slip in which they state to allow what they will give for the sale of goods amounting to 2 dollars by sending 15^c for mailing expenses - so the proof stands in the Post Office
that I sent the 45^c for mailing expenses and 4^c over and yet they send for more money and - the 6 dollar entitling me to three silk handkerchiefs - I shall be extremely obliged to you if you will attend to this matter for me in that way - as their own confession is here to prove that they received all the amount and that they sent only two Premiums and also that they have still requested more money -

I join this here to show you what they offer to give for an order of 6 dollar worth of goods by sending 45^c for mailing expenses -

In an interview with Mr. Lynn he acknowledges receiving Miss Deahl's money order for $6.49, but her order calls for $6.14 worth of goods, instead of $6.04, as she claims, and the 45 cents for premium would make the total $6.59, or ten cents in excess of the amount of her money order. As they still hold five cents from the amount of the last order, having shipped her to the amount of $6.44, they will send the third premium upon receiving ten cents from her, which would make $6.59, the total amount of goods and premiums."

Dear Sir:-

In further reply to your favor enclosing letters from James R. Brown Va., regarding a stolen manuscript and William Wakeley Mass., regarding his brother, I would state that Mr. Brown has been informed that the Police cannot interfere in manner he suggests, but if he takes action against him for theft and communicates through the authorities with this Department the Police will assist him. Mr. Wakeley has been informed that we are unable to obtain any information regarding his brother.

Very respectfully

My dear Mr Mayor:

Referring to our conversation last evening relative to the station house in the 9th Precinct, I beg to invite your attention to the following resolution adopted unanimously by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, as appears on page 3023 of the City Record:- (see 15)

RESOLVED, That permission be and is hereby granted to the Board of Police to erect and construct a station-house, prison and stable in the Ninth Precinct, upon the lots known as Nos. 133, 135 and 137 Charles Street, in the City of New York, the title to which has been acquired by the City; and

RESOLVED, that the plans for said building, transmitted to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund for their approval by a resolution of the Board of Police adopted August 30, 1895, be and the same are hereby approved.

Subsequently the Board of Estimate authorized the issuance of bonds, and appropriated $100,000. for the building.

I have today sent to the Corporation Counsel a full statement of all proceedings, and copy of all the resolutions relating to the case.

Permit me to say that we have employed a good architect, and believe we are competent to construct our own building. If, however, the City desires to supervise our work, we shall not object, but we are anxious that this work should proceed without further delay.

Yours very truly,

Miss Annie McGuire,

Catawissa, Mo.:

Miss:

I am directed by the Board of Police to say with reference to yours of the 23d ult., making inquiry of relatives, and addressed to His Honor, the Mayor, that John Carroll is alive and well, and resides at No. 20 Beach street, this city, and he informs us that James Malone has been dead about 35 years.

Very respectfully,

Mrs. Johanna Krono,
37 San Sebastian street,
Berlin, Germany:

Madam:

I am directed by the Board of Police to say with reference to yours of the 8th ult., addressed to His Honor, the Mayor, asking information of Charlotte Kitschky, that Sergeant Harley, of the Police Bureau of Information, reports concerning the same as follows:

"By searching old city directories we find in the year 1868 the name of Charlotte Strasser, widow of Charles Strasser, saloon keeper, 7 Duane street, and upon inquiry being made of old residents of that neighborhood, we were informed that Mrs. Strasser kept a house of prostitution, but disappeared from that neighborhood about nineteen or twenty years ago, and none of them have any knowledge of her whereabouts. She was certainly the woman referred to by the writer, as she was a native of the place mentioned, and would be about the age given, if alive. After the death of her husband she lived with and supported a man named Henry Walters, whom we have tried in vain to locate. The death records have not been examined (they being kept by the Health Dept.), as it is very uncertain what name she would be recorded under, if dead. If the writer had given the woman's address when last heard from more definite information might have been obtained."

Very respectfully,

Chief Clerk.

Hon. William L. Strong

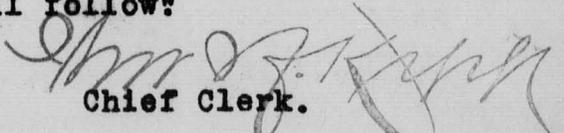

Mayor New York City.

Dear Sir:-

In further reply to your favor of the 15th ult. relative to a complaint having been made at your office against saloon 16th street and 9th avenue I would respectfully state that Cating Captain Andrew J. Thomas reports as follows:

" I would respectfully state that the place is situated in a poor tenement locality and is chiefly patronized by the laboring class coal shovelers gas house men etc., I do not know of its being a resort for criminals hanging out there it is owned by a man named Chris. Purcell it was formerly owned by his brother William who is now serving a sentence in States Prison for killing a man in his place at 1st avenue and 22nd street some years ago. This store is kept closed during unlawful hours. I will give this place my special attention and if I find the law violated I arrests will follow!

Very respectfully

Chief Clerk.
