On Tuesday evening the 7 of November I with a large number of others was at a ball in 14 street near C. St. we had supper there, the complaint was also there, he lost his coat there and accuses me of having taken it. He first said in the presence and hearing of James Mangin, William Roden, and George Webster, that the coat was taken from a rail in the saloon where he had placed by a person who wore a black & I wore no badge, and that after they were out on the side walk, that he and a friend who was with him had run all way and the person who took his coat ran in an opposite direction, that he made no outcry and did not pursue the thief, but he now says that I took the coat from his arm and ran with it in one direction while he and his friend ran in the opposite direction.

and that the reason he did not forgive me or make an apology was that I had called out to him to call at the rooms of the association in two days and get his coat. There was such trouble in the station when the complainant got there and when was continuing out on the sidewalk - I know this month on this island
