Dear Sir

Your telegraphic Despatch was duly received, but in consequence of sickness I was unable to attend to any business, or reply to you sooner.

The Doctor has ordered me to go to the Sea Shore for a month or so, and to give up all business cares to give my mind and brain complete rest for that time, and as this is a business, which I cannot entrust to any one else to do for me, I shall have to ask you to wait patiently till you hear from me again, which will be between the first and middle of October. I will then send you the necessary instructions, how to know and when to see me, also a sample of my Goods.

Possibly this arrangement will meet your circumstances exactly, and will give you all necessary time to prepare for the trip.

Trusting that this will be satisfactory to you, and that our mutual interests will make us good and lasting Friends

I remain

Yours Respectfully
