For the defence.

ISIDORE GLODOWORSKY, the complainant, being duly sworn, testified that he was a saloon keeper and speculated in all kinds of business whenever he had a chance. He knew the prisoner and saw him about 5 or 6 o'clock in the evening in his saloon. The prisoner remained in his saloon all night on the 16th. of March. The saloon was at the corner of Clinton and Stanton Street. He, the complainant and the prisoner were in the saloon together all night and the next morning at 8 o'clock he started for home and the prisoner went with him and when he got home the complainant found his door locked and he went across the street, the prisoner going with him, into a lager beer saloon and took a glass of ginger ale and the prisoner also had a glass of ginger ale and then he, the complainant, fell asleep. Before the complainant fell asleep he gave the saloon keeper a silver dollar and he got his change and put it in his vest pocket along with a five dollar bill. The complainant also had a gold watch in his vest pocket. The complainant slept about one hour and then he wanted to buy another glass of ginger ale and when he put his hand into his pocket, he found his money was gone and the watch was gone too. The complainant then asked the saloon keeper and the saloon keeper said, that the prisoner had left the saloon about an hour ago. The prisoner had only remained about 15 minutes after he, the complainant, had gone to sleep and had left the saloon. The value of the watch was $70.00. He found the prisoner subsequently in a place in Hester Street playing cards.

0960

-----000-----

Under cross examination, the complainant testified that he was in this country 16 years and that he was in a

-----000-----

GEORGE GAULROP, , a witness caled for the people, testified that he saw the prisoner and the complainant come into his saloon on the 16th. of March. The complainant ordered two glasses of ginger ale and then asked him to play pinnocle with him and the witness was cleaning up the counter and bar. The complainant then sat down to a table and when he, the witness, had the cards tready to play, the complainant had fallen asleep. The witness left the cards and the slate on the table and went back to his work and was sweeping the sidewalk when the prisoner left the saloon. The prisoner was the only man in the saloon at the time besides the complainant who was asleep. When the complainant woke up he said that his watch was gone. And said nothing about the loss of any money.

-----000-----

Under cross examination the witness testified that he knew the complainant for some time and had seen him in his saloon about three or four times.

0962

OFFICER MICHAEL REAP, of 11th. Precinct, testified that he took the prisoner in charge on the 16h. of March. The prisoner was searched in the station house and a pawn ticket representing a coat was found upon him. The witness went to the pawn shop and found out that the prisoner had given the name of Miller and his residence as 15 Mott Street. On the 28th. of March, the witness discovered the watch in Simpson's where it was pawned for $20.00.

-----000-----

For the defence, August Henscott, testified that he knew the prisoner for about three years and the prisoner had lived with him for about 6 months and worked for him for about 9 months and that he never knew the prisoner to steal anything.

JOHN SHEEHAN, Assistant.

Police Department City Marshals Office

Lawrence, Mass. April 9, 1887.

To whom it may concern

This is to certify that I have known Jeremiah Carter, the young man who is now under arrest in New York for several years. He was born in Lawrence and comes from good respectable parents.

He is now about 19 years old and up to the time he left Lawrence, (about 3 years ago) was never in any trouble.

His father and Mother are both dead, & he has respectable relatives living here and if he has been doing wrong in New York I hope that his case may be disposed of in some way so that he can return home to his friends where he will be taken care of all right and carefully looked after.

If he has done a dishonest act, He is the first one belonging to his family that I ever heard of a complaint of for anything of the kind.

Respectfully yours
James T. O'Sullivan
City Marshal.

0975

I, Dennis E. Carey, of Lawrence, Massachusetts, on oath do say:

That I have known Jeremiah Carter, (now under arrest in New York,) since his childhood, and have been intimate with him from boyhood until his departure from Lawrence;

I know him to be honest and upright, and never knew or heard of his wronging anybody or violating the law in the least.

I hope the Court will consider his case one suitable for probation, or at least the smallest sentence consistent with public justice.

Tried, Friday, April 1, 1887.

APPEARANCES.

Assistant District Attorney, Ambrose H. Purdy, for the People; Mr. Berlinger, for the defence.

-----000-----

Laura Gilbert, the complainant, called for the people,
was duly sworn, and testified as follows:

I am a married woman, and live at number 995, 10th.
Avenue. I recall the 17th. of March, - Patrick's Day. I was standing at the corner of 14th. street with my sister.
I had my pocket-book in my left hand pocket, and I had $14. in money in it, - $14.15. in money, a gold ring and a ten cent stamp in it. I saw the defendant, Waldron, there. I was looking at the parade at the time; it was between two and three o'clock.

I was standing at the corner of Broadway and 14th.
street; I had my baby in my arms, and my sister was with me. I felt some one on the side of me - nudging me, and fooling; I felt something around my pocket; I said to Waldron, the prisoner, I asked him to be more careful. He made believe, or was supposed to ^{be} deaf and dumb. He didn't talk, and he didn't move away; he did not move away and didn't take any notice; he was scuffling on the side of me. I had my baby in my arms. I saw a scuffle right near where I was, and I saw those men arrested. My sister took the baby from me, and I placed my hand on my pocket book, and missed my pocket book.

This is the officer that arrested him. I went to the Sergeant that was standing at the corner, and I missed my pocketbook. In consequence of the conversation I had with the Sergeant, I went to the station house. I had to identify my my pocket-book at the police station; the detective had it. The money was in it just the same as when it was taken from me..

-----000-----

No Cross Examination.

-----0000-----

George T. Neeson, called for the people, testified as follows:

I am a police officer of the 15th. precinct. I was on special duty on the 17th. of March, at Union Square.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock on that day, I saw the defendants at the corner of 14th Street and Broadway; they were in company with Butler. I saw the three of them trying the pockets - feel the pockets of other parties for about 20 minutes and they came to this lady, the complainant, right on the corner; Butler stood in front and Waldron and Carter stood behind. Waldron put his hand into this lady's pocket, as I thought, from the appearance of it; Carter was shoving the crowd back from Waldron - the lady shoved Waldron away and before he went away he passed something to Butler. Carter followed Waldron and I shoved the three of them, Carter, Waldron and Butler, out into the procession which was lined by the police. I told the officer nearest to arrest each one of them and I arrested Butler. I asked Waldron what he took from the lady. He would not answer me. I searched them and found nothing; I searched Butler and Carter too. I found the pocketbook in Butler's pocket and I immediately took the three of them to the station house, and on the way to the station house, the lady met me and she identified the book.. She told me what kind of a book it was and she said the clasp was broken off; she described it.

Under cross examination, the officer testified that the three of them, Carter, Waldron and Butler, were continually together walking from University Place to Broadway, back and forward, and that there was a crowd of people there looking at the procession. He, the witness, saw Butler try other people's pockets and Waldron too - Waldron did the most of the trying and Carter used to keep the crowd from Waldron - and that Waldron and Butler did all the trying of the pockets, - most of it. The witness kept the three of them in sight 20 minutes before their arrest, and there were a great many people around there at the time and the witness saw Waldron pass something to Butler and he knew it was something dark. The prisoner, Waldron, made believe he was dumb - he could not speak. He made signs and he, the witness, had to write down everything for him - had to question the prisoner in writing and the prisoner showed the witness a card with a dumb sign - and witness thought he was deaf and dumb. Waldron continued to be deaf and dumb in the station house and in court he was dumb before the magistrate, and the question had to be written down for him to read.

For the defence, John Butler, testified that he pleaded guilty to this ~~guilty to this~~ indictment and that he stole this pocketbook. He did not know either of the other defendants, Carter or Waldron, and was not in their ~~company~~ company on that day and did not see either of them until they were arrested. Carter and Waldron had nothing to do with this larceny and he, the witness, never spoke to them about this case.

-----000-----

Under cross examination, the witness testified that nobody taught him to pick pockets, and that he, the witness, took this pocketbook out of her pocket, and that Carter and Waldron were strangers to him. He, the witness, did not talk to Carter nor to Waldron, except that they bid him the time of day when they met in the Tombs. And they had been in the Tombs together a week or over. He, the witness, went out to steal something that day because he was out of work and he went to see the procession and to steal somebody's pocketbook and he tried several other people around that corner that day, but Waldron and Carter were not acting in concert with him.

JERRY CARTER, one of the defendants, being duly sworn, testified that he was a peddler in novelties, and that he never was arrested before in his life; and, before he went peddling he was working in a restaurant at 151 3rd Avenue, and before that, he worked in the "Home-made hotel" in Greenwich Street. He had nothing to do with stealing the pocket on the day in question and he never saw Butler before in his life; had never seen him before that day when they were arrested, and he, the witness, was merely looking at the procession.

-----000-----

Under cross examination, he testified that he did not know Waldron nor Butler, and never talked to them before, until after the arrest and the first time he, the witness, met either of them was at the time they were all arrested. Waldron was deaf and dumb, but recovered his voice in the Tombs.

-----000-----

7

WALTER WALDRON, one of the defendants, being duly sworn, testified that he lived at 190 Mulberry street, and that he had been in this city since January, and came from Cleveland, Ohio, and he had a mother in Cleveland. He remembered St. Patrick's day last, and he was standing at Union Square that day, looking at the procession. He never saw either of the other witnesses, Carter nor Butler, before that day and had no conversation with them that day and did not see them before they were arrested. He, the witness, was arrested once before, for going into swimming when he was a little boy. He played deaf and dumb upon that day because he was afraid of the officer. The witness was standing on the corner and there was a large crowd there and the street car would come and the officer would shove us back and then ^{we} ~~you~~ would go back into the street to see the parade; a street car went by and a gentleman would shove him, the witness, up and shoved him in the officer's hands and an officer had Butler and one officer took the witness and when they searched Butler, they took a pocketbook out of his pocket and Butler said, "What are you arresting me for", and then the officer hit Butler in the face and punched him and the officer took the witness and asked him what the names of the other fellows were and said, "I will break your jaw - what is these fellows names?" If he, the witness, had told the truth the officer would have punched him too, and so the witness made believe that he was deaf and dumb.

0986

He had nothing to do with stealing the pocketbook and did not know it was stolen until he heard the lady run up and the officer asked her if that was her pocketbook.

-----000-----

Under cross examination, he testified that he never "played off" deaf and dumb before and the card which he had in his pocket which contains the deaf and dumb alphabet was purchased by him from a deaf and dumb man about a month before he, the witness, was arrested. The witness never saw Butler nor Carter before and had nothing to do with stealing the pocketbook. He worked from the 17th of January up to the time of his arrest for Robert Jackson, carrying fruit. He made believe he was deaf and dumb because the policeman said he would break his jaw and in the station house he did the same thing and he was also deaf and dumb in the Police court and the officer went to the judge and said, "this fellow is deaf and dumb," and he, the witness said nothing.

-----000-----

JOHN CONNOLLY, a witness called for the defence, testified that he kept a restaurant on 3rd Avenue, between 15th and 16th Streets. He knew the defendant, ^{Waldron} Waldron, for about three years and over and ^{witness} had worked for him at his saloon about 6 or 7 months and roomed in his house for three years and six months and ^{witness} always found the defendant honest and industrious and never heard of him stealing anything as far as he knew. The defendant had a brother in Brookville, Massachusetts, and the witness had met him.

-----000-----

CHARLES BARRETT, being duly sworn, testified that he was head waiter in the "Home-made Hotel", 284 Greenwich Street, in this City. The defendant, Jerry Carter, had worked for him for four or five months, and the witness knew him for about a year and a half and the defendant had always been very good while he worked with him, and had plenty of chance to steal, "getting change and such things as that," but always found him honest.

-----000-----

10

Under cross examination, he testified that the defendant did errands for him and sometimes got change for a five or a ten dollar bill and would always bring back the change.
