The People } Court of General Sessions Part I.
 Mary Casey } Before Judge Lawrence Oct. 20. 1884.
 Indictment for receiving stolen goods.

James Hanrahan sworn and examined.

On the night of the 30th of Sept. last I went to 2 1/2 Sullivan St. with Alice Lee - it was a basement, and I should judge from the looks the room was divided off into two parts by a curtain. I had a watch, chain and charm worth $25.4 stolen from my hip pocket of the pantaloons. I made an outcry, and the madam of the house came in; she was searched and the watch was not found on her. I afterwards heard Alice Lee arrested for stealing the watch. I do not know that I have ever seen Mary Casey until the 2nd day of October; then I saw her before Judge Patterson charged with pawning my watch and chain. I heard her say that she found it in the same house I lost it; she said she heard that I had lost a watch that night; she said she found it under a sofa. I did not see any sofa in the room, it was dark. I was so much excited over my property that in fact I did not look. I believe the prisoner said she pawned it for seven dollars. I have identified the watch; it is a Swiss 1/4 second timer open case with a little pivot on the side so that you can turn the stem and set it.

0738

Cross Examined. I live at the Central hotel. Often times when I am out late at night I take my watch and chain from my vest, and put it in my hip pocket. I put it in the hip pocket of my pantaloons half an hour before I got to this house. I was in Hudson st when I took it out. I had a few drinks that day, but I was sober. I am very cautious about getting drunk.

Israel M. Rosenberg sworn. I am a pawn broker at 385 Canal st. I first saw the watch on the 1st of Oct; which the complainant identified as his. Mary Casey brought it in between twelve and one o'clock in the daytime on the 1st of Oct; she pawned it for seven dollars. It was an open faced ^{gold} watch and was valuable. She said that the gentleman she worked for was a little tight; she brought it in a silk handkerchief; she said he was a little tight and wanted a little money on it, he wanted to put it only for safe keeping; she gave the name of Callaghan, which was put on the ticket. I told her I did not want the handkerchief. I took the watch and chain. Afterwards I was not home when the officer came in and asked my son if a watch was taken in, that there was a watch stolen. ~~He~~ I asked the officer what kind of a watch?

POOR QUALITY
ORIGINALS

and he said he did not know. I took the watch to the Jefferson ~~Market~~ Police Court; the complainant came to my place the night before and identified the watch. The defendant was half drunk when she pawned the watch. Thomas Moran sworn. The pawn broker arrested her. I brought her before the Justice; she said she found the watch under the sofa the next morning. She said she knew the man lost the watch and that she pawned it in Canal St. for the amount stated. Then she was asked who stole the watch and she said, "This one here," meaning Alice Lee, who was standing by her. Alice Lee was locked up at the time that the defendant said she found the watch. I asked the defendant if she told the woman who kept the place that she found a watch and she said she did not. Cross Examined. The complainant was standing in front of the Magistrate and she said, "That is the man she took the watch from; she says, I found it under the sofa and I pawned it. She wanted to go up and speak to the Magistrate and he would not let her. I saw the complainant in the afternoon after I stopped this watch in the pawn shop; he had been drinking."

0740

I brought him to the pawn broker, and he identified his watch. I brought ~~that~~ two women who were in the place where the watch was stolen and the pawnbroker could not identify either of them.

James Harrahan recalled. I met Alice Lee on Grand St; she told me she had a friend living in Sullivan St. and invited me up there. I went with her. I had previously put my watch and chain and charm in a silk handkerchief in my hip pocket. I felt it in my pocket as I entered the door of this place. I went to bed with her. I took my coat off and unfastened my clothes. I do not think I had been in the room over three or four minutes until I found Alice Lee's hand in my pocket. If I had dropped the watch out of my pocket while in the bed I would have found it afterward, for the bed was searched thoroughly.

Alice Lee sworn. I am the woman who is charged with stealing the watch off Harrahan. I did not on that night or between the time of the arrest seen this woman Casey. I did not give the watch to anybody. I did not take it.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty.
