 vs
 John Parker

On Wednesday evening Nov. 3. 1880, at 11 o'clock on the east side of Spring St. in front of the Acad. of Music my watch was stolen from me by John Parker the prisoner under the following circumstances.

Prisoner was parading thro' the crowd from 15th St. to 14th St. and shouting as though for a cab, when beside me his hands went down toward my right hand vest pocket & I immediately heard the rattle of my chain, I looked down, saw the chain dangling from my pocket, and the prisoner running away.

I could not reach him on account of the crowd when I came out of the Academy first, I had my coat buttoned and my overcoat buttoned also, but having to return again I opened both coats & when returning to the street opened my ^{coat} watch to see the time. This was about a minute before the theft.

I then reported the loss to a Police Captain who stood at the door, and he referred me to a detective who was also there and we arranged to meet on the next Friday evening at the close of the opera in the same place to see if the thief would be again there.

On that evening (Friday), at about 11 o'clock I

Original of J.P.

0281

went to the same place and not seeing the prisoner there went to the 14" Street side, and while there was told by the detective that there was a man around the corner who was dressed like the man I described. I then went alone to look for the thief & without any assistance whatever from the detective, I saw the prisoner standing on the west side of Irving Place within 10 feet of the south side of 15" Street talking to two other men & immediately identified him as the thief & passed him very slowly & closely & while doing so heard him remark to a taller man, "you ought to be satisfied you've got the watch" they were grumbling with each other, at the time I then went to 16" Street corner, crossed to east side of Irving Place, & down to 14" Street, where I met these detective and then had the prisoner and his ^{taller} companion arrested.

On the way to the station, the prisoner asked "who is he, that he can have people arrested in this manner", the detective replied, "He is a man who charges you with stealing his watch", and has heard you talking about a watch", they positively denied having spoken of any watch but after having proceeded, or black or so, the prisoner admitted that a watch had been spoken of, but claimed that the conversation ^{related} to his having obtained a prize in some tobacco which entitled him to a handkerchief, and that one Pat Brennan 0282

had secured a watch in the same manner.

Now the remark overheard by me previous to the arrest was addressed by the prisoner to his companion "you ought to be satisfied you've got the watch", & did not refer to any third parties.

When brought before the Sergeant at the Station, the prisoner's companion claimed that he was working on the night in question but the prisoner did not offer to account for his whereabouts.

I positively identify the prisoner as the person who took my watch, & the description given by me to the detective after the occurrence coincided exactly with the prisoner on his arrest.

and that this deponent has a probable cause to suspect, and does suspect, that the said property was feloniously taken, stolen and carried away by from the person of this deponent by John Parker (now here) from the following facts; that on said day at the hour of about eleven o'clock P.M. this deponent was standing in front of the entrance to the Academy of Music in Irving place, said John Parker while passing this deponent brushed against this deponents body and immediately thereafter this deponent found the chain to which said watch had been attached dangling from the buttonhole of the vest then and there worn by this deponent upon his person as part of his bodily apparel, and said watch slipping from the ^{right} side pocket of said vest, into which pocket this deponent had returned said watch after looking at it, about a minute before the time when said defendant brushed against this deponent's body as before said. Deponent followed said defendant to cause his arrest at said time, but said John Parker soon disappeared in the large crowd of people then in said street. That on Friday the 5th day of November 1880, this deponent saw said defendant in company with two other men standing near Irving Hall in Irving Place and identified said John Parker as the said person that had brushed ~~by~~ against and by him as aforesaid. Deponent therefore charges that said gold watch was taken stolen and carried away from the possession and from the person of this deponent by said John Parker.
