pieces of silk fabric referred to. Deponent further says that during the latter part of February or March last. Mary Palmer, now present brought said silk to deponent's house. to have dresses made of them. That at the same time she gave deponent a piece of black silk to be made in a dress for her - defendant - who requested deponent not to make the other two dresses until she brought the linings and trimmings. That defendant did not again call until about three weeks since.

 She did not say where he was nor

Edmund Gottlieb being recalled and examined for the prosecution says. I have the books here that show the entries of buyers purchases and sales. I have examined the books in regard to the sales. I find no entry of the full end piece of the navy blue silk in question. The number of the whole piece as received ~~was~~ was 2044. the number given by me - 117 or 18 yards was all that was sold of that piece. The last sale of any of this navy blue silk was Nov 10 1879.

X Es I made all the sales except the last of few yards which was made by Goldman himself. We had several other pieces of blue silk, but not the same quality or exact color. I could not tell if we had at any other time. I swear positively that the piece in question was a part of the piece of 2044. There was a burglary committed on the night of Dec 31 1879, and a quantity of silk were stolen. The brick wall by the chimney was broken through. By the way. No two pieces of silk in the store have the same number. I have not the original wrapper.

Edward Gotlieb being sworn and cross examined says. The owner of the goods and premises is Maxmusa L Goldman. and I am employed by him on salary, as manager of his business. Mr Goldman buys, but seldom sells goods and hires the salesman.
 My duties are to receive and ex-amine goods bought, put them in stock, record them, and sell them, personally. No one else in the store has the same duties. There is only one other salesman at present.
 On Dec 31 1879, there were two be-sides me. The marks are between every five yards of the silk, and in all colored silks. They are all marked by me with roman figures in green pencil. All goods in the store prior to Jan 1st 1880, were marked the same as these two pieces of silk. The silk was in the store on Dec 30 1880, when it was closed.
 I cannot swear that these two particular pieces were in the store at that time. I can't tell the last time I saw these goods in the store.

but think I could be examining the books - There was about 85 yards of navy blue in store the last time I saw it. I'll swear that the piece here is a portion of that 85 yards - It is not a rule of the store that a salesman must come to me before selling silk - but the custom.
 I can't swear that the piece of navy blue or plum silk was sold. not sold out of the store. The Roman <sup>has not all the goods</sup> ~~has not all the goods~~ is not entered on a book ~~from the beginning~~

48-7

The People vs. Emmanuel Antonio Plear { Court of General Sessions. Before Recorder Smythe, October 11, 1880.
 Indictment for felonious assault and battery.

Emilio Figueroa sworn and examined through the interpreter - Live 64, James St. I am a stripper in a tobacco factory. I have known the prisoner 11 years. On the 17th day of Sept., I met him in Oliver St.; he invited me to take a drink; it was between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon; we went to a liquor store and he paid for the first drink and then he told me I would have to stand treat. I told him that I had only 25-cents and that I could not treat, I needed it for my support; then he struck me, he gave me a push with his fist; then he cut or stabbed me with a knife in the arm and then he took a bottle and struck me on the arm with a bottle. I went out in the street and called for a policeman and he was arrested. Then we went to the station house and I was sent from there to the Chamber St. hospital to have my wound healed. I remained until my wound was dressed and went back to the station house. (The witness showed his coat where it was cut). Before the prisoner cut me he used bad words and insulted me; he told me I was a miserable coward; he ran away after he cut me. He cut me because I refused to pay for liquor. Cross examined I did not have cigars in my possession belonging to the prisoner, I did not work in the same place where the prisoner worked. I did not go to his place in James St. and take some property out of his house. I had two drinks that day with him of whiskey, but before that I did not have any.

 I think the prisoner was a little intoxicated at the time. Thomas Gilbride sworn. I am an officer of the Fourth Precinct and arrested the prisoner on the 16th of Sept. in the street in Oak St. between New Chamber and James St. The complainant and the prisoner were quarreling, and the complainant wanted me to arrest him; he said he had stabbed or cut him.
 The prisoner was walking away. I asked the complainant would he make a charge against him? He said, "yes." I asked him where he was cut. I looked at the arm where he had been cut. There were no marks on the shirt or on the coat. There was a couple of old cuts on the coat, but they did not seem to be the marks of a knife. There were two small scars on the arm bleeding, like as if it was bruised, the skin taken off. I fetched them both into the station house and took the complainant right over to the station house.
 He said it did not amount to much. I took him back to the station house again. In about two weeks after I was searching and I could not find the complainant. I searched the prisoner when I got him to the station house and found this knife and pistol loaded and a bad trade dollar. He said that the complainant gave him that trade dollar for cigars. The prisoner said he did not cut the complainant; he said that the complainant was struck with a bottle by him, but was not cut in the arm with a knife.

Cross Examined. I did not see any marks or cuts on the prisoner; he told the sergeant that the complainant hit him in the eye with his fist before he struck him with the bottle. There were two small wounds on the complainant's arm. The wound looked as though it was <sup>cut</sup> with a knife; the doctor put his finger in the wound and worked it around; the skin was cut. After I locked up the prisoner I took the complainant to the hospital in Chamber St. and waited there about five or ten minutes, got his wound dressed, took him back to the station house and then took the both to Court. The doctor put a piece of plaster on, the skin was loose.

Emanuel Brutons Plear sworn and examined in his own behalf testified: I live 116 Morris St. and have known the complainant 14 years. I came from my house going to Oak St. on the corner. I met the complainant, he asked me to give him two hundred cigars. I gave them to him, I had them with me, that was the 16th. On the 17th I went out to get my knife "grinded" and I met him again. I asked him to give me some money for the cigars and he gave me a dollar, the same dollar the policeman has. I told him it was a bad one. He said, "Come and have a drink and we will see if the dollar is good." I had one drink and did not want any more. Then we began to talk about that dollar again. I said, that dollar is no good and because I refused it he hit me in the face by the side of the nose with a knife that he had in his pocket. Then I took a bottle and hit him with it on his head and on his arm. I went out and he went out and did not say anything; then afterwards he called a policeman to have me arrested. I did not cut him with a knife, I hit him only with a bottle; he had a mark on his head and on his arm; the bottle did not break the first blow, but it broke when I hit him on the arm. Then he hit him with the bottle, the complainant picked up a stone and was about to hit me when an Italian prevented him. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of assault and battery. He was sent to the penitentiary for one year.
